The T V ads and mail outs had made it sound so good,
with gym and den-tal cov'rage and e-ven some free food!
But they've de-nied the chem-o I've just been found to need,
I must go back to REAL Medi-care, and do it at full speed!

But the broker said...

"Wel-come to-o Med-i-care Ad-va-an-tage!"
with its love-ly frills
hiding all the bills
that you will have to pay once you are real-ly ill.
What a nice sur-prise underneath the lies.

Last thing I re-mem-ber, I was run-ning for the door.
I had to find the pass-age back to the place I was be-fore.
"Re-lax," (pause) said the bro-ker, "We are pro-grammed to re-ceive.
You can check out an-y time you like, but you can ne-ver leave!"

Wel-come to-o Med-i-care Ad-va-an-tage!
You can-not go back,
once you're on the track.
Up-com-ing stops for pa-tients ri-ding on this train are "Small Net-works" and "De-ni-al of Claims!"

Wel-come to-o Med-i-care Ad-va-an-tage!
What a love-ly face...
hides a HUGE dis-grace!
